

Investment Objective

Seeks to achieve high risk-adjusted returns in emerging markets, with a focus on small cap equities.

Philosophy

- Buy undiscovered companies early in their growth cycle and stay the course
- Over the long run, earnings growth drives stock prices
- Small companies have the potential for faster earnings growth
- Smaller companies in emerging markets are less efficiently priced, so quality can often be owned inexpensively
- A small, fully integrated team of analysts with significant experience in emerging markets small-cap investing can prove to be a very effective model

Process

- Proprietary screen across a broad universe of small companies focusing on profitability, growth and sustainable margins
- Extensive history of direct calls/meetings with company managements to assess competitive advantages, market opportunity as well as management philosophy and ownership
- Model assumptions to formulate a forward-looking financial picture
- Valuation considerations play a role in creating a degree of downside protection if growth expectations underperform

RISK FACTORS

General Investment Risks. The Partnership's success depends on the GP's ability to implement its investment strategy. Any factor that would make it more difficult to execute timely trades, such as a significant lessening of liquidity in a particular market, may also be detrimental to profitability. No assurance can be given that the investment strategies to be used by the Partnership will be successful under all or any market conditions.

Investment and Trading Risks. All investments involve the risk of a loss of capital. The GP believes that the Partnership's investment program and its research and risk-management techniques moderate this risk through the careful selection of securities and other financial instruments. No guarantee or representation is made that the Partnership's investment program will be successful, and investment results may vary substantially over time.

Equity Securities. The value of the equity securities held by the Partnership are subject to market risk, including changes in economic conditions, growth rates, profits, interest rates and the market's perception of these securities. While offering greater potential for long-term growth, equity securities are more volatile and generally more risky than some other forms of investment.

Exchange Traded Funds. The Partnership may invest in ETFs. Unlike open-end mutual funds, the shares of ETFs and closed-end investment companies are not purchased and redeemed by investors directly with the fund, but instead are purchased and sold through broker-dealers in transactions on a stock exchange. Because ETF and closed-end fund shares are traded on an exchange, they may trade at a discount from or a premium to the net asset value per share of the underlying portfolio of securities. Trading in ETF and closed-end fund shares also entails payment of brokerage commissions and other transaction costs.

Exchange Traded Notes. ETNs are senior, unsecured, unsubordinated debt securities whose returns are linked to the performance of a particular market benchmark or strategy minus applicable fees. There may be times when an ETN shares trades at a premium or discount to its market benchmark or strategy.

Small Capitalization Stocks. The Partnership may invest its assets in stocks of companies with smaller market capitalizations (i.e., generally having market capitalizations less than or equal to $2 billion). In addition to being subject to the general market risk that stock prices may decline over short or even extended periods, such companies may not be well-known to the investing public, and may not have significant institutional ownership. Accordingly, investors in the Partnership should have a long-term investment horizon.

New Issues. The Partnership may invest in "New Issues" as the term is defined in Rule 5130 and Rule 5131. Such investments offer the opportunity for significant appreciation; however, they are speculative and involve a high degree of risk.

Illiquid Investments. The Partnership may invest in securities, loans or other assets for which no (or only a limited) liquid market exists or that are subject to legal or other restrictions on transfer. It may take the Partnership longer to liquidate these positions (if they can be liquidated) than would be the case for more liquid investments. Restricted securities may sell at a price lower than similar securities that are not subject to restrictions on resale.

Securities Regulations Concerning Private Placements. The Partnership may invest in securities that are not registered under the Securities Act. The Partnership will purchase such securities in reliance upon an exemption from registration pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Act including those provided by Regulation D. Therefore, securities purchased pursuant to such exemptions including Regulation D are often illiquid.

Restricted Securities. The Partnership may invest in restricted securities that are subject to substantial holding periods or that are not traded in public markets. Restricted securities generally are difficult or impossible to sell at prices comparable to the market prices of similar securities that are publicly traded.

Private Investments in Public Equities ("PIPEs"). The GP may invest a portion of the Partnership's portfolio in PIPEs. Many PIPEs investors focus on making directly negotiated private investments in public and non-public companies, typically focused primarily on providing alternative funding options for small to mid-sized publicly traded companies with lower market capitalizations. The securities issued in a PIPEs transaction are generally unregistered shares of the company. Accordingly, such securities are considered to be illiquid and may not be re-sold until they are eventually registered under the federal securities laws. This lock-up period may last for several months or more.

Foreign Securities. The Partnership may invest in securities and other instruments of issuers located in non-U.S. jurisdictions (e.g. foreign corporations and foreign countries). Investing in the securities of companies in, and governments of, foreign countries involves certain considerations not usually associated with investing in securities of United States companies or the United States Government.

Non-U.S. Exchanges and Markets. The Partnership may engage in trading on non-U.S. exchanges and markets. Trading on such exchanges and markets may involve certain risks not applicable to trading on U.S. exchanges and is frequently less regulated. For example, certain of those exchanges may not provide the same assurances of the integrity (financial and otherwise) of the marketplace and its participants, as do U.S. exchanges. Daily price movements for these instruments may be unlimited, and there can be no guarantee that markets will exist for liquidation of such instruments following investment.

Emerging Markets. The securities markets of emerging countries are generally smaller, less developed, less liquid and more volatile than the securities markets of the U.S. and developed foreign markets. Disclosure and regulatory standards in many respects are less stringent than in the United States and developed foreign markets. Accounting and auditing standards in many markets are different and sometimes significantly differ from those applicable in the United States or Europe. Many of these countries lack the legal, structural and cultural basis for the establishment of a dynamic, orderly market-oriented economy. Many of the promising changes that are being seen at present could be reversed causing significant impact on the Partnership's investment returns.
